Green city & Happiness

The global warming phenomenon, caused by high-level industrialization and a high-speed society, leads to the destruction of the ecosystem and the massive pandemic and this is continuously getting worse. Now, it is time for humans to gather wisdom in order to overcome this crisis and turn this into an opportunity. By shifting the paradigm which changes cities into 100% green parks, we can make our lives a soft and deep place of memory^{mellow memory} of a house in the park. Right here, we would like to ask for your attention and collaboration with a hope that humans not only move forward into a community of communication and solidarity with each other but also shares our vision in a good and beautiful way.
